

Ken Horwitz — The Dartmouth

Jack Noon and Jim Taylor '74 saw away for the Dartmouth alumni woodsmen's team.

Woodsmen teams capture second place for College

Dartmouth woodsmen's teams captured second place in both men's and women's divisions during the past Woodsmen's Weekend.

The Dartmouth A team took second in the men's competition to the University of Maine A team, with the Dartmouth B squad finishing eighth out of 14 teams. Dartmouth's C team took second to Colby College (Maine) in the women's competition.

The weekend, headed by Chris Mumford '77, drew 25 teams from the New England area for two days of events on the Green and Storr's Pond. Alumni Put Blodgett '53 and Jim Taylor '74 assisted the DOC divisions in setting up and training for the weekend.

"We're all really, really happy with the way things went," one team member said.

"This was the biggest number of teams we've ever had and we're really proud of the way they (the Dartmouth teams) did."

Individual winners included:

Men: singles canoeing, Mumford and Chuck Conte '78; packboard relay (team); chain throw, Gary Clohan '77; axe throw, George Kendrick '77; dot split (accuracy wood-splitting), Mike McMurtry '80.

Women: singles canoeing, Cay Wieboldt '78 and Stacy Miller '77; doubles canoeing, Kim Rosenau '77 and Lex Bond '78; distance flycasting, Miller; chain throw, Wieboldt; water boil (fire-building), Bond and Anne Renner '77; scoot loading, Wieboldt and Rachel Krevans '79; speed chopping, Miller, Wieboldt and Krevans; bucksawing (team).